Sister Albertine came to the United States in 1903. She spent 32 years in Bay St. Louis, teaching science and mathematics at the St. Mary's Academy. Among her activities Sister also assisted the poor and taught catechism in several small communities near the Bay, organized a St. Joseph's group, and was a sacristan for the church. A special devotion of Sister's was her love of the Blessed Virgin, as evidenced by her care of the historic shrines more than a century ago. Sister Albertine was buried in the St. Mary's cemetery in Argyle, Minnesota, at her home in Bay St. Louis, where she was a resident for many years.

Council Explains Code Provisions

Meeting Changed

Due to an unexpected conflict with the Heart Fund Association, the regular meeting of the Waveland Civic Association, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. March 11, will not be held at Trapani's on Highway 90.

On Monday 62 persons were in attendance when the Hancock County Construction Council met in the auditorium of Hancock North Central School in a more than three hour exchange of opinions.

A panel composed of 12 men including all branches of the construction trade conducted a question and answer session with Talmadge Rayborn, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, serving as moderator.

Many misunderstandings were cleared up as a result of the meeting, according to Belmar Wilcox who serves as president of the Council Board.

Consultant Urges Adoption Of Good County Building Code

"I urge county and local officials and all interested citizens to work for adoption of a good building code," said J. Louis Malvaney, president of Resources Development and Management Consultants in Jackson following a recent inspection tour of Hancock County.

Directing his plea to Talmadge Rayborn, executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Malvaney added: "I have no personal gain in whether you adopt a code or not, I am merely an outsider who is impressed with Hancock County and want to see it prosper."

In his plea for code adoption Malvaney said: "A uniform building code is an absolute necessity if you are to attract new industry in your area. I might point out that Harrison County and Jackson County to the east of you and New Orleans to the west can offer the same advantages that you can. In addition they have a building code which will make it very difficult for you to compete with them."

"Not only," added Malvaney "is a code vital for new industry, but existing industry as well. The fishing and seafood industry is one of Hancock County's present mainstays. A code is, perhaps, more important to this industry than one located a distance inland. These people deserve every consideration you can give them and they deserve to know that any structure they put on the water front will withstand ordinary storms. They deserve the insurance advantages that will said: "I realize the potential Hancock County has for development. To see your port and industrial complex as well as the new airport with an attendant industrial park made child bumps rise as I realized the potential for development. I have seldom seen anything that excited me more." Malvaney said lack of a building code in operation seems contrary to signs of progress which he saw on his tour of the County.

Approximately 1100 home owners have not yet filed for homestead exemption, Hancock County Tax Assessor George Heitzmann stated. Many eligible new home owners are not taking advantage of filing for exemption, the assessor added and he is urging them to do so to avoid higher taxes next year.

The deadline for filing is April 1. Home owners filing for the first time are required to bring their warranty deed and 1971 auto tag numbers.

Flood, Hurricane Study Progresses

Trent Lott, administrative assistant to Congressman William M. Colmer, said the congressman of our Fifth District has recently been in touch with the Corps of Engineers with reference to a continued Flood and Hurricane Protection Feasibility Study for Hancock and Harrison Counties. According to Lott the study is progressing, however, he added "Following Hurricane Camille, it was necessary to do some additional survey and study work."

Stating limited resources of time and manpower no one rooming, Bensein continued: "Time and manpower simply are not sufficient to permit completion of current efforts to the extent necessary to expand the program to other kinds of properties."

"Stressing the land-use and management angle Bensein said: "More significantly, we believe it would be advisable to expand the program beyond the type of properties accorded priority by the Congress until we have later assurance that the underlying land-use and management measures required by the program are actually being put into effect."

"As you know," continued Bensein, "the Act provides that subsidized flood insurance be made available only on December 31, 1971 to communities which commit themselves to the adoption and enforcement of such land-use measures. After that date local regulations must be in force to retain insurance eligibility."

When asked by a news reporter to interpret the meaning of the enforced local regulations in order to retain insurance eligibility, Bensein said he interpreted it to mean the type of building code adopted and manner in which regulations were enforced.

Hospital Improves Emergency Provisions

"If another hurricane should hit this area the Hancock General Hospital is not to handle any emergency," hospital administrator H. J. Blackledge said in a talk given to the Women's Auxiliary of that institution. Blackledge said, barring catastrophic damage to the building, the plant could function independently. Since Hurricane Camille a generating system has been installed that can take over in emergency with its own heating and lighting system. It is not, however, sufficiently powerful to also handle the air condition units, it was noted.
Blackledge also explained that communications were improved with a two-way radio system connected with the Governors Safety Council. This system not only gives information for such weather condition as tornado and hurricanes alerts, but also enables the hospital in time of emergency to announce needs for man power and supplies and enables families tocommunicate with patients to learn of their conditions.
The Women's Auxiliary recently defrayed the expenses of a convention from gas-biller to Diasol Hotel at a cost of approximately $700.00, Black-ledge said.Commenting on the hospital staff's appreciation for the work being done by the Women's Auxiliary, Blackledge said: "I don't think we could function so smoothly without the help and devotion of the women's Auxiliary and the Candy Strippers."

FARM BUREAU POLICIES ON HEALTH

Here are quotations from current Farm Bureau policies on health, as adopted by the official voting delegates of the member State Farm Bureaus at the AFBF annual meeting in Houston, Texas, last December:

"We are deeply concerned with the sharp increases that continue to occur in the costs of medical and hospital care. These increases have brought on renewed discussion of a national health care plan to provide government financed health care for all citizens. We support such plans. We support legislation which would deal with this problem through income tax credits for premiums on private health care plans purchased by taxpayers, with provision for government assistance to persons who do not have enough income to take full advantage of such credits.

"We urge all citizens to participate in private health care plans."

Armato, Mary Ruby and Earl Seltzer, Connie and Homer Jenkins, Mrs. Doris Ethridge and Dick Whittington.

The maids wore white jeweled adorned gowns and carried silver carnival masks decorated with orchids and carnival ribbons.

Following procession of the Court the arrival of the King, who entered to the strains of "If Ever I Cease to Love," was announced.

Royal pages to King Christian XXXVIII were Mark Keel, Jamie Jenkins, Brian Logan and Andy Boudreau.

Queen Christiana, escorted by her husband, wore a white silk peau de sole gown fashioned on empire lines. The bodice, featuring a scooped neckline, was trimmed with appliqued white velvet flowers re-embroidered with brilliants and rhinestones. A bow trimmed the low-cut back and the skirt fell into a short train. Her royal purple velvet mantle, featuring a medall collar, was edged with ermine and decorated with a motif of zircons, rhinestones and braid. A jeweled crown and scepter completed her attire.

Wendy Erickson, Shannon Yockey, Denise Lodner and Yvette Queen's junior maids.

Miss Margaret Jean Kalif, Grand Duchess, was escorted by Grand Duke, Harry Mervin. She wore a white taffeta gown made on Princess lines. The standing collar and front of the gown were embellished with rhinestones and silver sequins. A train of the same material attached to the shoulders, extended to the hemline. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Guter, last year's Queen, chose a gown of white Belgium lace over white crepe, embroidered with pearls and crystal beads. She carried a bouquet of purple and gold flowers with green ribbons.

Residents Urged To Beautify Homes

"There is still time," said Talmadge Rayborn who is executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, "for the people who live in Bay St. Louis to make their homes more attractive for the forthcoming Spring home and garden tour."

The local nurseries are well stocked with a fine assortment of shrubs, such as azaleas and camellias and there are trays of healthy small annuals, tomato and pepper plants, etc. Roses, too, may still be planted in this area. Prices on plants are surprisingly reasonable, weather is balmy and the ground is just right for planting," he added.

The ladies who work on the beautification program are hopeful there will be full cooperation and urge people to take a drive around the various streets and note what a difference a few plants make in the appearance of a home. The local banks have added a note of encouragement by distributing to their customers free seeds to be planted.

Benefit Planned

Benefit week, open to the public, is planned for Sunday, March 14, by the Hancock Association for Retarded Children. The event, which is being sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, will be held in the Bay Center on Uman Ave. starting at 10 a.m.

Plans for the event are under way and all proceeds will go to the Children's Center School for Exceptional Children. The school, which is operated by the Association, needs $1,000 to have the children screened by the Gulfport Mental Health facility to determine which students are educable and which are trainable. A number of cake and rummage sales and other benefit socials are planned for the school in an effort to raise the needed money.

Why not make this Your CREED

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon - if I can. I seek opportunity - not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done.

All this is what it means to be an American.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.A. (Doug Elliott)

Wish the weather would make up its mind about what it wants to do. Over the weekend it was 60 degrees Saturday afternoon and 38 degrees Sunday morning at 6 a.m. These changes affect fishing and fishermen. The fish strike best on a leveling off temperature and the fishermen know how much clothing to put on. Ketchum fishing when your hands are cold.

Fish have been caught where good water was found, both in the bay and on the marsh. Most streams are clearing up rapidly.

Another month with warmer days fresh water fish will be hitting surface bays. To everyone's liking, perch and bluegill are beginning to hit the water bays, especially in the bay, black or colored, with a small piece of pork rind. We prefer the black gnat. Speaking of gnats they are beginning to bite, too.

Was a pleasure catching bluegill and blue gills over the weekend. These are very popular pan fish. They usually weigh less than a pound, but do grow much larger. A creel full of bluegill is a sight to behold. A creel full of bluegill is a sight to behold. A creel full of bluegill is a sight to behold.

A safety precaution: When fishing a boat, keep looking toward the water at your bait or other tackle. Go where the fish are going and fix your tackle when you get there. It is much easier for your fishing partner to do it at your mercy. A dunk in the water is not too pleasant, either. It can be dangerous also. Warn your buddy when you're taking off in high gear, he might be off balance.

Doc W.E. Folio of Collins, Miss., was down last week checking on the fishing. He is an expert fisherman and hunter. He came on down, fellow fishermen are biting right now.

Had a boo-boo last week. Oodles from Jourdan River, Oak, not Jourdan River. Excuse please.

Sorry to hear of the death of Morris Hennessy last week. Morris was a real fisherman and oodles sport. He fished at Waveland since coming to town.

Used Peranch another of our fishermen has caught a share of fish hereabouts. He is an expert fisherman. He is an expert fisherman. He is an expert fisherman.

WHO CAN REPLACE ARCHIE WHO?

"Replacing Archie Manning at quarterback is a major hurdle". Old Miss head football coach Billy Kinard is quoted in a bulletin from the school's publicity department which we think is the world's record understatement.

There have been some great quarterbacks at OM and no doubt there will be some fine ones in future years but replacing Archie — well, we'll believe it when we hear another song written about him, maybe something like Percy the Passer, Horrible Harry, Jumpin' Jimmy or Chattanooga Shug Shug.

But seriously there are five contenders for the quarterback job, holder letterman Shug's humbler of Center Point, Ala., and Don Farrar of Gulfport, and sophomores Norris Weese of Chalmette, La., Jimmy Causey of Meadville and Kenny Lyons of Biloxi. One of these will try to fill Manning's shoes but Kinard said it will probably be September, after opening of fall practice, before starting units are completely firmed up. Spring training is almost halfway through, winding up on March 27 with the annual Red-Blue game.

Anyhow, whoever gets the starting quarterback post will probably find the going tough until the interior offensive line gains some experience — graduation cleaned out this area, tackle to tackle. But Kinard gave a plus grade to wide receivers Riley Myers of Jackson and Bill Jordan of Columbus, Ga., and to tight end Jim Poole of Oxford. Myers, with top-team status in 68-69, did not play last year. Poole, with Kinard mentioning "added quickness and speed," is the two-season starter at his station and Jordan lettered last season at tight end. Leon Felts of Winona, another veteran at split end, was bumped from Spring training by knee surgery.

NEVER DO ANYTHING HALF WAY

Our friend and ex-boss, Powell (Red) Glass, Jr., former owner of the Sea Coast Echo, is something else. He must have had our recent column about the Stone High official who made us go to get in Perkinston's gym to take pictures and cover the district eight basketball tournament.

Monday morning we were deluged with letters from all schools, colleges, professional baseball teams, etc., in the Lynchburg, Va., area enclosing season and even lifetime passes to all athletic events. (Red's editor and general manager of the Lynchburg News and the Daily Advance, morning and afternoon papers comparable in size to the New Orleans Times-Picayune and States-Item.) Thanks Red. Hope we can visit that way soon.

####

The latest Mississippi Game and Fish Commission's publication contains a list of proper names for various fish including a flathead catfish which is identified as the pliodictis olivaris. Such sounds like some of the epithets uttered by our fishermen friends after being fished by one of the little pests that abound the Bay.

Other fish are identified as channel catfish — ictalurus punctatus; largemouth bass — micropterus salmoides; spotted bass — micropterus punctulatus; bluegill — leomis macrochirus; smallmouth bass — micropterus dolomieu; white bass — morone chrysops; redear sunfish or chinequin — leomis microlophus; sea-run striped bass — roccus saxatilis; white croaker or white perch — pomoxis annularis; yellow bass or fish — roccus interruptus; blue catfish — ictalurus olivaris. Sounds kind of sexy, huh?

Game and Fish Fines Upped

Hunters or fishermen who have thought about breaking a game or fish law had better think again, because now the consequences are doubly stiff.

For instance, any person convicted of hunting out of season can be fined not less than $100 and the Game and Fish Commission has the authority to revoke a license for one year after the first conviction.

Other fines have also been increased, thanks to legislation passed during the current session of the Mississippi Legislature. A misdemeanor now costs the violator a minimum of $25 plus an additional $10 for each animal, bird or fish over the bag limit. The fine for a misdemeanor was $10.

In an effort to protect the state's growing turkey flock, a fine of up to $250 can be imposed on anyone convicted of killing a wild turkey hen or killing a wild turkey out of season.

Headlighting, which has always been one of the more serious crimes against wildlife, carries a minimum penalty of $250 and confiscation of all equipment used in the illegal act.

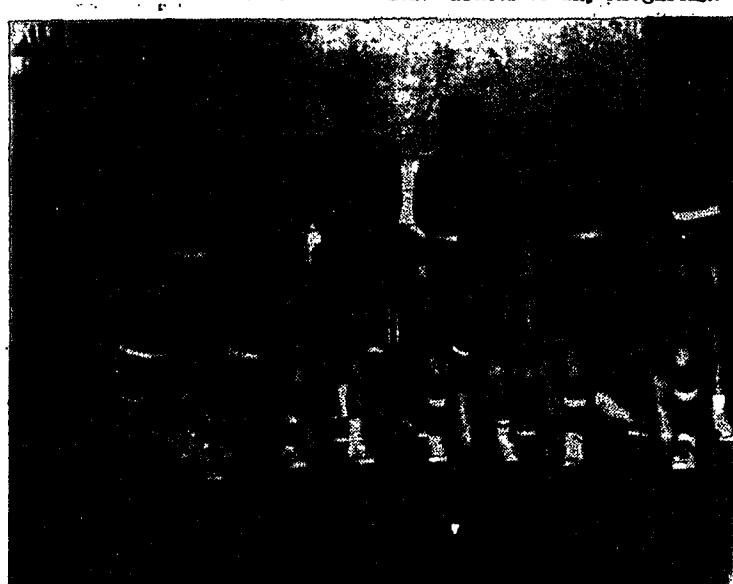

All but three non-game birds were placed on the protected list. Persons killing non-game birds other than English sparrows, crows and starlings, can be convicted of a misdemeanor. Illegal nets, wire baskets, shot baskets or any illegal fishing equipment, whether they be in the water or on land, can cost their owners up to $500 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or both.

It is now unlawful to hunt, trap or kill a fox, game animal or wild animal of any kind, with the exceptions of squirrel and fowl, by use of scents, lures or sound devices. However, a fox that is causing depredation on poultry or other livestock may be killed.

Necaise Ends College Career

After a slow start William Caroy Collogo ended its basketball season on a winning note by defeating its final four opponents for a 12-13 win-loss record.

Miles Necaise of Bay St. Louis dazzled the fans with many nights of great shooting, twice scoring 48 points and leading the team in scoring with a 29.1 average. He is the only Crusader ever to exceed the 2,000 career point mark ending his career with 2,075. Miles has also been cited for his feeding and play-making ability, dribbling and rebounding, averaging 11.3 per game.

Necaise is considering several professional basketball offers and should he accept, the lanky gamester should be heard of for many years.
